-Preface-

Reflective practices of educators contribute to the success of teaching. It gives them the opportunity to examine personal and professional strategies in order to raise the bar of student achievement.

These task sheets are prepared for students in CIN 501 to help them in processing theoretical approaches in graduate school classes. With their rich and essential experiences in the entire teaching-learning process, they are considered to be at the forefront of education reform attempts.

It is hoped that these task sheets serve as the witness of one's classroom practices.
